

Basic Detail Report

Kroj

Date

1900-1930

Medium

textile

Description

Parts of a girl's kroj; white blouse with white lace around neck and sleeve ends; very short, puffed sleeves; three silver snaps down back for closure White apron with white lace around bottom; purple ribbon for ties Skirt alternates between panels of pink and light blue; red fabric is folded and sewn around the bottom to create a kind of ribbon accent; pink paisley waistband; slightly gathered around waist; safety pin for closure Red velvet vest; metallic gold cording sewn onto both sides of front opening in floral designs; three flowers connected by stems; cording is wrapped around wire; three snaps down front for closure; small V sewn in green yarn at top of back; pink paisley lining White cap with large white bow on the back; front edge is scalloped; repeating triangular designs made of small cutout work circles line the front edge; white embroidery lies behind the triangles (short branches with many leaves); the bow's edges are identical to the front edge; a piece of wire in each side of the bow makes them stick out from the back on either side of the head when worn

Dimensions

Overall: 14 in. (35.6 cm)